THE Alexandra Business Place conducted a business workshop at Sankopano to educate and encourage people to initiate their own businesses.

The Business Place is a gateway to entrepreneurship, providing a platform for any small business to become an employment-generating and financial independent entity through networks of business information.

Those who attended in numbers were women from the Community Works Programme.

Raymond Zulu, the Business Place supervisor said from next month they will create a timetable with different topics if there were those who wanted or were already in businesses will get business acumen. They will also assist them with marketing and registering their businesses. It is part of their programme of taking services to the people.

"Before you start a business you must research about it first."
